SandGlass License Keygen

Keyboard macro for Mac OS X. A simple utility that adds a keyboard macro to the Mac OS X menu bar or Dock. If you like what you see, please consider making a donation to further development. MacWindows MacWindows is a dual-mode file transfer application for Mac OS X and Microsoft Windows. It's easy to use and is a good choice for files up to a few GB in size. MacWindows supports the following protocols: SMB2 SMB3 FTP WebDAV URL MacWindows can be used as a client or a server and supports uploads and downloads in any direction. The main window shows the contents of the currently active folder, but you can open a file explorer window to see the contents of a different directory. A toolbar allows you to configure your settings, check the server status, and add and delete folders from the server. You can also specify an FTP or WebDAV server for your downloads. When the application is not in use, it shows the settings for your file transfer protocol and lets you specify your preferred server and folder. This is a great way to transfer large files without the hassle of constantly opening and closing the window. MacWindows supports both TCP/IP and SSL transfers for increased security. The TCP/IP transfer is used by default if there's no server defined. It's also possible to configure the application to use your chosen server. MacWindows supports command line options and will happily transmit files up to a maximum size of 10 GB. There's a progress indicator for each operation and any error will be written to the command line. The application will automatically retry an error if it comes up again. MacWindows supports a comprehensive list of server commands, including options for encryption and how data is transferred. MacWindows will alert you when a file doesn't transfer completely, and you can pause the transfer. MacWindows can also use SMB, FTP, or WebDAV as protocol when performing uploads and downloads. MacWindows doesn't require any additional software to be installed. It's also possible to use your own servers and folders with MacWindows. There are no updates available for MacWindows. MacWindows Features: Simultaneous transfer of multiple files Simultaneous upload/download of multiple files Delete all files on the server Delete 1d6a3396d6
