Looking ahead to an uncertain future: what happens to patients with stroke when consulting their general practitioner? While stroke is a major cause of morbidity and mortality, the general practitioner (GP) is a pivotal link in the healthcare system. This study investigated the nature of the visit between patients with stroke and their GP. Data were collected by face-to-face interview using a questionnaire. Respondents were patients with stroke or minor stroke and their GPs who had consulted in the previous three months. A total of 105 patients and 109 GPs were interviewed. General practitioners were more likely to recognise patients with stroke or minor stroke, and they were more likely to investigate the cause of the patient's symptoms, test blood pressure and do eye checks than were patients. They were less likely to test a glucose level and to undertake simple cognitive tasks. General practitioners were also less likely to offer physical therapy and to do exercise. The patients with stroke were much less likely to have their blood pressure checked, and to have their resting heart rate measured. They were more likely to be referred for outpatient investigations. General practitioners who have patients with stroke or minor stroke and their patients need to be alert to signs of cognitive impairment. However, patients with stroke are not always able to recognise these signs themselves, and their GPs have limited knowledge about stroke. Patients with stroke and their GPs need

I had to stop twice this week for breath because I was about to explode with all the news. I had heard all week that we were getting married but I didn't believe it. So I was checking Facebook and Instagram and I see all these posts and they are all pictures of us, and happy, and I was like why are all these posts now. And then I got to reading them and you guys are all so happy for us, for me, for you, for our love, for us. I think it's the best thing in the whole world to be happy for other people and the happiness they are feeling because of you guys. I can't thank you enough for all the love and support and this incredible and amazing couple that you are. Thank you for the pictures. Thank you for sending me a present to my house. I can't believe how much you thought of me. I know we haven't really spoken, but you are all a part of our story. I'm so glad that you are part of it. You made me the happiest girl in the whole world. I don't know how to thank you. I just feel so proud and lucky that you wanted me to be part of it. I hope that we are a part of your life forever, a part of your family. I will cherish all of your memories, all the moments we have had, I will treasure you forever.As I discussed with you earlier this week, attached is a copy of the draft termsheet for the sale of the generating assets associated with the Englebright project. We will be scheduling a meeting with Englebright to discuss the termsheet and walk through the transaction. In the meantime, if you have any comments or questions, please let me know. How it works: A full screen application that loads verses in a table, allowing users to switch between topic categories and sub-categories. Where to get it: Google Play iTunes Additional tags: Quran, Quotes, Quran Tafsir, Islam, Hadith, Religion, Muslim, Islam Islam, Quranic, Quran Divines In one of the deadliest modern-day terrorist attacks, nineteen Islamic State gunmen carried out an attack on an Indonesian resort island on October 1, 2017. According to the police, at least fourteen people were killed and around forty-three were wounded. The attackers used heavily-armed automatic rifles to fire upon the guests of a five-star hotel, mostly foreign tourists. After several hours of gun battle, the attackers were eventually overpowered by hotel security guards. The attackers were identified as members of a local terrorist cell that had pledged allegiance to Islamic State. Based on their social media postings, the attackers were inspired by the 2015 shooting in San Bernardino, California. The security forces released a surveillance video showing that the attackers were equipped with high-end automatic rifles and body armour. They disguised their identities by wearing bullet-proof vests with face masks to avoid being identified by security cameras. The attack occurred on the island of Bali, which has a majority of its population with the Muslim faith. The Islamic State terror group has been using Bali as a base for terror operations and has killed hundreds of people, mostly Westerners, in their attempted recruitment drives. Facts About the Attack: Introduction of Islamic State in Southeast Asia + IS claimed responsibility for the attack, with the group's spokesman Abu Hussain Al-Qahtani confirming that the group was responsible for the "martyrdom operations" of the group that carried out the attack. Al-Qahtani said the attack was carried out in response to the bombing of mosques in Afghanistan and Iraq. "So, the first nation that we will be targeting is Russia. Second will be the U.S. They [U.S.] attacked the #Mosque of the #Ahmadiyyas in the #Safira's neighborhood in #Baghdad. And today in
