Q: Removing a value from an array and checking if its still in the array I have been doing some practice tests for my quiz and have begun to solve them. However, I am getting stuck on the removed values. I can get it to remove the values from the array, but I am unsure how to check that the value is still in the array. Here is what I have so far:

function remove_this() { var my_array = new Array(); my_array = ["apple", "red", "red", "apple", "red", "orange", "orange"]; my_array = my_array.filter(function(val) { return val !== 'apple' }); alert(my_array); }

Remove apple A: You were setting my_array to be the result of the.filter() call. Instead, assign the filter to a variable.

function remove_this() { var my_array = new Array(); var filter = my_array.filter(function(val) { return val !== 'apple' }); alert(filter); }

Remove apple Q: Is there a way to restart the command in a unit that started as a member of a vehicle? I just asked a question that didn't describe my problem well, but with a bit more information, I have a new question. As a little background, I was in a vehicle and I used a command to do something, like attack. Then I gave the order to stop moving. (Cause I was attacked.) Then I got out of the vehicle. After a few seconds I realized the attack from the vehicle I was in was still in effect. Is there a way to re-summon the vehicle 1cb139a0ed
