Tuner is an easy to use application that will help you tune your guitar, bass, and other instruments. Tune your guitar and bass in just seconds by playing a note and watching the dial shift left or right. The note your are playing is automatically displayed in the tuner's graphics. It does what it says on the tin: "Just an audio trainer, not a guitar tuning app". So, it's not a guitar tuning app and I don't consider it to be an audio trainer. It's a free sound generator / engine of some kind, it's got stereo output, some presets, and some good dynamic options for adjusting the overdrive or distortion. Other than that, it's pretty basic. However, there are two major caveats to note, first, it's got some pre-programmed presets that seem to work fine. But, the second major caveat is that the output of this app is really...
